

LINDA EDMONDSON

LADY CAPTAIN

I am sure you have heard the expression: 'If you can't beat them, join them!'

Well, that is exactly how my golfing career began back in 1987 when I joined my husband as a member of Lutterworth Golf Club. Later, in the early Millennium year I moved to Stoneleigh Deer Park GC where we had a strong Ladies section, enjoyed both playing golf and organising and attending the social events.

During those 15 years, I took on the honoured role as Lady Captain twice; in 2009 and 2013. From 2005, I was employed as Club Secretary and continued in that working and playing golf until moving to Burnham on Sea in 2016.

It was early 2017 when I became a member of Brean Golf Club. It was not only the challenging golf course, the proposed building of the Country Club but the camaraderie and friendliness of the golfing members, who made me most welcome. That clinched my decision to join and play at Brean GC.

My aim as Lady Captain is to share my enjoyment of playing golf, both social and competitive with the ladies, act as an ambassador to encourage new ladies to come and play at Brean and grow our membership. We have a small, very friendly ladies section, and welcome newcomers to join us for a round or two, or perhaps a coffee in the members lounge.

My favourite golf hole? Every hole is my favourite! Each of the 18 holes are different, challenging in their own right, where the wind conditions can make them easier or more difficult every time I go out to play. If I get a par or even birdie (bonus) on the day, then that is my favourite hole, until the next time! But it's always the one good shot that brings me back to play again!
